WILL BUILD CITADEL HERE

Salvation Army Contemplate Erecting Building Here This Year.

A new hall for the Salvation Army is one of the possibilities of the near future. Capt. Acton, who along with Lieut. Mundy is in charge of the Army's work in The Pass, informed The Bulletin this week that he had already opened negotiations with the International Coal and Coke Company with a view to securing a building site in a central location, and that plans, etc., were now being prepared at the Western Headquarters of the Army in Winnipeg.

Just what the dimensions of the new hall will be is not definitely known at the moment, but the building will include a sufficiently large hall in which to hold meetings, etc., and also living quarters for the officers in charge of the work here.

Since coming into The Pass district a little over a year ago, we are informed, the Army has made splendid headway and the work of that organization is now sufficiently well established here to warrant the erection of permanent quarters.

It is planned to complete this work during the summer.

Just a few hours more and the God of Bacchus will have lost his throne in Alberta. True, he may—like Villa—take to the hills for a time and carry on a guerrilla warfare; but it is pretty safe betting that Fred Forster's "regulars" will get him sooner or later if he attempts any such stunt as that. The safest place in all Alberta for the booze-fighters after June 30th will be on the water wagon.

A reader tells The Bulletin that we missed another bear story last week. Nope. We knew about it. The scene was laid in Bushtown, but it would require a moving picture machine to do it full justice, so we had to pass it up. Full particulars, however, can be had from the foreman of the section gang—back him.

The patriotic service which was announced for the Presbyterian church on Sunday last had to be postponed owing to the non-arrival of some of the material required. This service will be held, therefore, next Sunday, July 2nd, at 2:30 o'clock.

A young lad driving the Western Canadian Co-Operative Co's delivery rig allowed his outfit to come down the hill near the tennis courts on Monday afternoon "on the high" and piled his load up in the middle of the road as a result.

In addition to the Red Cross lunch counter, Messrs. Frank Celli and Wm. Jenkins will both have ice cream and confectionery booths on the grounds on Dominion Day.

Miss Maude Johnson went to Calgary on Tuesday evening. Khaki is quite a popular color with the young ladies of Coleman.

This remarkable photograph was taken somewhere 'on the North Sea after the recent great naval battle. It shows wounded sailors being moved from a drifter to a hospital ship. The officer in charge is seen shouting directions. Six gallant lads who helped to drive the Hun fleet back to its base lie on stretchers on deck.

COLEMAN BOYS NOW SETTLED AT SARCEE

To the Editor of The Bulletin:

Dear Sir,—Friends in Coleman will no doubt be interested to hear something of the doings of the 192nd battalion, especially of B Company, since it left Coleman. We had a comfortable journey to Calgary, and after a mug of hot coffee and sandwiches, marched out to Sarcee, where the soldiers of other battalions gave us a rousing welcome. We were lucky in the weather the first day or two, but then we had rain and mud of all kinds for a couple of days. It is now fine weather, and boys are getting the battalion lines into shape—B Company doing some hefty work in the way of packing gravel and lumber. The manner of life here is new to lots of us, but we are taking to it finely, and all the boys are happy and contented.

The other night the huskies of B Company made quite a name for themselves. I happened on a big crowd of the 194th at a tug-of-war, and asked the officer who was there whether he cared to see a bunch that would pull his boys off their feet. Somewhat sarcastically, he said he would be delighted, and everybody set up a cheer. So off I beat it to B Company lines, and called: "Turn out, B Company!" Over we went in a crowd, and we set our boys on the rope. We would perhaps not have been so cocky about it if we had known that the team against us had cleaned up the Edmonton country. After a most exciting pull we won two out of three, to our huge delight, and to the delight of everybody in camp. Speak about wireless, the news went round like wildfire that the Cocks of the North had met their match at last!

There is plenty of variety here. From my tent door I can see as I write a football match, baseball, a wrestling match, and an eightsome reel (bagpipe accompaniment) all at once, not to include side-shows such as hair-cutting and pole-vaulting.

Friends of E. Allan and F. Cox will like to hear that they are both buglers now.

Last night at tattoo about seventy Jack Tars passed our lines and we turned out at the double to cheer them, and it was just fine to see their cheery faces and to hear them cheer. It was just like a breath of sea air. After they had passed, one man said to me: "And some people say we can't win this war!"

It looks Mr. Editor, as if everybody will be wanted, and if there are any young fellows who are hesitating tell them from B Company there are 10,000 men here to give them a cheer when they come; for there's a sort of brotherhood about this war that is simply splendid. I must be a bit of a pagan, for the cheer the boys sent up last night satisfied the very soul of me, and I went to sleep after it more glad than ever I have been just to be alive.

Apart from the usual minor ailments, everybody is well.

D. E. CAMERON, B Company.

MANY TEAMS ENTERED FOR FIRST AID AND MINE RESCUE COMPETITIONS

BELLEVUE MAN IS PRISONER OF WAR

Bellevue, June 28.—Mr. Covey, manager of the Western Canada Wholesale Co., Fernie, was in camp this week on business.

There was an Italian wedding in camp Tuesday. Nick Grammatico was married at the Catholic church to a lady who landed from Italy on Sunday. There was a large attendance at the church and they celebrated the event in good Italian style. The bride and groom start house keeping with the best wishes of their large circle of friends.

Corporal Orchard of the 192nd is visiting in camp for a few days, the guest of Mr. and Mrs. H. Harrison.

Miss Florrie Hallworth, Miss Annie Corthorn and Harry Katha were writing on their exams. at Blairmore this week.

Mrs. Blair, of Edmonton, is visiting her daughter, Mrs. Jack Simpson.

Rev. Law, the new minister for the Bellevue Methodist church, has arrived in camp and occupied the pulpit on Sunday, June 25th. He comes from up in the Peace River country. Mrs. Law will coffee some time in the near future.

Miss Hellen Bolesey went to the ranch for a few days with her mother.

Miss Mary McDonald, of Lethbridge, is visiting Miss Mary Bolesey for a few days.

Mrs. Owen Morgan was visiting her parents in Blairmore the latter end of last week.

Mrs. James Callan made a business trip to Pincher Creek on Saturday.

Word was received in camp this week that Private Joseph McLean, who has been listed as missing, is officially reported a prisoner of war in Germany.

Sergeants F. Padgett and R. Jordan are visiting in camp from Sarcee.

Mrs. Wm. Chappell is visiting in camp for a few days, the guest of Mrs. G. Knowles.

Mrs. Wm. Patterson went to Cowley on Monday night to visit her sister, who is sick.

While working at the Beath Creek sawmill in the Porcupine hills, north of Cowley, Floyd Dodson was fatally injured by a falling lumber pile. The accident occurred last week and at first it was not thought he was seriously injured, but on Saturday last his condition became grave and he was rushed to the Pincher Creek hospital, where he died. Deceased was 25 years of age and is survived by his parents and several brothers and sisters.

No Less Than Sixteen Teams Have Entered Up To Present—Preparations Have Been Under Way All This Week For Holding the Various Competitions Here—District 18 Officials Offer Gold Medals.

There will be sixteen teams entered altogether in the first aid and mine rescue competitions here on Saturday. Of this number, half will participate in the first aid competitions and half in the mine rescue work. Coleman will have five teams entered, three from the International mine and two from McGillivray; there will be two teams from Lethbridge entered in the mine rescue and one in the first aid; two teams from Fernie in first aid and an equal number in mine rescue, and Michel will be represented in the same way.

As far as could be learned at the hour of going to press, these competitions will commence at nine o'clock in the forenoon and will probably require in the neighborhood of eight hours to run off.

As previously stated, the members of the Rocky Mountain Branch of the Canadian Mining Institute will come in from Corbin on Friday evening and will remain in Coleman over Saturday, attending the demonstrations here in a body. Also, according to a recent issue of the Edmonton Evening Bulletin, quite a large representation of mining men from the north of the province plan to spend the day here, as these demonstrations, being the first of the kind ever held in the Province, are attracting a great deal of attention in every mining camp of Alberta.

We understand the local committee have been able to secure accommodation for the members of the Mining Institute, and the Red Cross Society is providing lunch for the crowds on Dominion Day.

In addition to the shields and medals offered by the Mining Institute, the executive of District 18 are donating ten medals made of five dollar gold pieces.

INTERESTING ITEMS FROM BLAIRMORE

Blairmore, June 28.—F. S. Kafoury spent Sunday in Fernie.

Pte. Donald McLean, of the 192nd battalion, Sarcee Camp, spent Sunday with his parents. On his return he will take a two months' special course.

The Departmental Examinations are now over and our best wishes are extended to those who wrote.

Miss Perkins spent the week-end with friends in Bellevue.

Mrs. E. C. Costick and Mrs. P. C. Shaw left for Lethbridge and outside points on Monday evening, where they will spend a few days before proceeding to Calgary. Mrs. Costick has shipped her furniture and will take up house keeping on her arrival in Calgary.

On Monday evening, Rev. Young, of Frank, gave a lecture on Livingstone in the Union church here. Mr. Young has a splendid collection of lantern slides of The Pass, which he showed. The lecture was both very instructive and interesting. The church was not so well filled as was expected.

Jack Delany, of Frank, has accepted a position in D. A. Sinclair's office and began work on Monday morning.

Donald Prescott left Monday night for Calgary, where he expects to remain for some time.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Winstenholme expect to leave for Calgary on Thursday to attend the exhibition.

B. P. McEwen has turned poet and is now writing a sonnet entitled: "You Never Miss The Coat Till The Rain Begins To Fall." The inspiration came to him on Sunday.

EXTRA!

Just as we go to press The Bulletin is informed that the meeting of the Rocky Mountain Branch of the Canadian Mining Institute will be held in Coleman on Friday, June 30th, instead of at Corbin as previously planned, on account of washouts.

The meeting will begin at 10 a. m., and papers on first aid and mine rescue work will be read. These will be of special interest to every mine employee in The Pass, and all who can do so should attend.

TO CHECK UP THE MOTOR DRIVERS

Out of town auto drivers, who have been in the habit of coming to Coleman when an excursion or picnic crowd was visiting this town, and charging exorbitant rates, are going to be summarily dealt with if any such tactics are attempted on July first. The committee in charge finds no fault with outside cars doing such livery business within the town limits on these days, but it does emphatically object to hold-up prices being charged as has been done in the past. For the last two years non-resident auto owners have got away with this sort of thing, and while our local liverymen have always kept their rates down, they have been blamed for the petty larceny perpetrated by outsiders. On Saturday next policemen will be on the job, and they will ascertain from the passengers what prices are being charged. If higher rates are being collected than that agreed upon by the local men, then the driver of the car will be asked to step into the municipal office and dig up the amount of the annual license fee.

Not of Pre-Glacial Period

Theory Based on Finding of Body in British Columbia Has Been Explored

A theory, based upon the discovery of a human skeleton in earth boulders alleged to be of great age, that man has been present on the North American continent at a much earlier period than had ever been supposed, has been explored in the results of a special investigation conducted by officials of the geological survey, which are published in this annual report of that branch, just issued.

The discovery of the human remains, which was made near Savona, B. C., caused a mild scientific sensation. It was made the subject of a paper presented to the Royal Society of Canada at its meeting last year, the claim then being made that the remains were of glacial age. If this claim had been established, it would have given evidence of the presence of man long years before it has been considered that anything in human form existed in North America, and would have upset many theories hitherto held on this subject.

The results of investigation, however, dispose of the claim of any very great antiquity for the remains discovered. C. W. Drysdale looked into the geology of the locality where the discovery was made, and found that the bones were of recent origin. Mr. Knowles, of the Anthropological Branch, examined the skeleton. Mr. Drysdale's conclusion was that the bones were of recent origin, and that the bones were of recent origin, and that the bones were of recent origin.

The verdict of this scientific commission is that the bones are of recent origin, and that the bones are of recent origin, and that the bones are of recent origin.

For Army Workers

Equipment for the Canadian Overseas Railway Construction Corps

Gigantic steam shovels weighing 65 tons each, capable of eating up the earth at the rate of 150 to 200 cubic yards an hour, self-propelled extension track pile drivers, are part of the equipment recently purchased by the government for the Canadian Overseas Railway Construction Corps. This plant was selected by Col. Ramsay, who is in charge of the engineering department of the Canadian Pacific Railway, and is being prepared by that company at the request of the government for shipment abroad. The Canadian Overseas Railway Construction Corps has already built many miles of track at strategic points and is all the while engaged in surveys for further construction. The work has often been done under fire, and though there have been no serious casualties, the work has been very arduous. The equipment is being shipped in several dispatches. The work of these Canadian engineers has been highly appreciated by the allied commanders.

Senator Gore of Oklahoma, while addressing a convention in Oklahoma City recently, told this story, illustrating a point he made:

"A northern gentleman was being entertained by a southern colonel on a fishing trip. The first visit was to the south, and the mosquitoes were so bothersome that he was unable to sleep, while at the same time he could hear his friend snoring audibly. The next morning he approached the old fellow who was doing the cooking.

"Jim," he said, "how is it the colonel is able to sleep so soundly with so many mosquitoes around?"

"I'll tell you, boss," the cook replied, "he just put a de night de kernel is too full to pay any 'tention to de sketors is too full to pay any 'tention to de kernel."

Ireland's True National Color

The question raised in the London press, recently, as to what is the national color of Ireland, does not admit of debate at any rate from an historical point of view. The national color is of course blue and not green. The adoption of the "immortal green" is, it is generally supposed, the result of the rebellion of '98. At that time the Orangemen made common cause with the Irish nationalists of the south, and a green flag was chosen as their emblem because green was the color produced by the blending of orange and blue. The national flag, too, of Ireland is not the green flag with an Irish harp in the centre, but the white flag showing the red saltire of St. Patrick—Christian Science Monitor.

Women Watchmen

In Germany and Austria, women, as in Great Britain, are releasing men from arduous duties for the war, and a Berlin investigation affirms that they are socially successful as night watchmen.

At Lichtenburg one of these lady watchmen secured the arrest of two notorious burglars. Another woman until three burglars had picked their lock into a motor-car and then jumped on the footboard as the car was driving off, the burglar, there so alarmed that they jumped out of the car and left it and the booty to the watchwoman.

Of course, we all are aware that ladies are experts at capturing men in any case.

Good Roads

Good Rural Roads Are of the Utmost Value to the Farmer

One of those lovers of statistics, who spend their days in computations and their nights in figures, have calculated that there is hauled over the roads of Canada every year 100,000,000 tons of freight for a distance of five miles per ton. The computation is based on the amount of tonnage of the railways of the Dominion, which amounts to approximately 60,000,000 tons every year, together with an additional amount for local traffic. In view of the fact that the majority of railway freight must be hauled at both ends of the journey the estimate does not seem to be exaggerated.

The cost of haulage on the roads of Canada is rarely less than 25 cents a mile so that the total cost of the haulage of produce and goods in one year reaches the enormous proportions of $25,000,000. The estimated cost of hauling freight on the roads of Europe is estimated at from eight to twelve cents per ton mile, so that it would seem that the system of good roads extended throughout the Dominion would mean a net saving over the railways of something over $25,000,000 a year.

In view of the campaign for greater traffic it would seem that the good roads problem takes on a new aspect. It must not be forgotten also that had it not been for the recent good roads campaign at Montreal one of the engineers who has made a study of the situation estimated that bad roads occasion a loss of a man and a team for twelve working days on every farm in the Dominion.

Rural roads are the primary channels of traffic. Along the roads production industry and commerce have their origin. If the common roads were closed the railway lines would decay and their rolling stock become fit for the scrap heap. The occupations would rust at their moorings if the roads were closed. Nations have prospered without railways but good roads have always been vital to industrial development and national progress.

Bad roads limit the output of farms to the kind and quality of produce that can be drawn to market. Good roads permit the farmer to take advantage to the utmost of the location and fertility of his land. In other words, a man who has a good road with bad roads the production is restricted to the amount of produce that can be hauled over the roads whereas with good roads it is restricted only by the amount and quality that can be sold on the market.

Pushing on to Arctic Ocean

Word Received From R. N. W. M. P. Detachment Which Left Regina Last Summer

Word was received by Corporal Wright, of the Brooks detachment of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police, Constable James Wright, who is one of the Bear Lake patrol who left Regina last summer on the way to the Arctic in search of better game country, that the police patrol deserted Dease river, where the priests' deserted cabin is located.

The letter was dated January 3 and took over four months to come through. It was from the Arctic in charge of the patrol and Constables Wright and Withers are the other policemen. Arden, a prospector, and an Eskimo hunter, accompanied the party. They intend pushing on to Coronation Gulf on the Arctic Ocean, according to a letter from Constable Arden. At the north coast Inspector Nauze and Arden will cross over to some islands and will encircle the gulf in search of the tribe of Eskimos who are supposed to have murdered Fathers Rouvier and Laroux. The tribe was discovered four years ago by Stefansson and are said to be unusually savage. The patrol will be there for three years on the trip.

The Limit

He was a very small boy. Paddy was his dog. Paddy was near to his heart than anything on earth. When Paddy met with evil and hideous things, Paddy would tremble and his mother trembled to break the news. But it had to be, and when he came home from school she told him simply:

"Paddy has been run over and killed." He took it very quietly. Finished his dinner with perfect composure and then he said: "All day it was the same. But five minutes after he had gone up to his room he took down the house a shill and a shilling. His mother rushed upstairs with solicitude and sympathy.

"Paddy," she sobbed, "that Paddy has been run over and killed." "But, dear, I told you that at dinner and you didn't seem to be at all alarmed. No; but—I didn't know you said Paddy—I thought you said daddy!"

Ninety per cent. of Italian boot and shoe factories are equipped with American machinery.

Buying Up Horses

Scarcity of Horses 'I Over Dominion Is Reported

Since the outbreak of the war, the British Remount Commission has purchased in Canada 15,000 horses. 8,000 have been bought by French contractors and 25,000 by the Canadian Department of Militia. The Department of Militia is now engaged in buying up the horses for the British Remount Commission has purchased over 700 since March and is buying daily in Montreal. French contractors are anxious to obtain supplies and are arranging to buy all that are available both in the East and in the West. It is understood that, as a result of the purchases already made, army buyers are finding it increasingly difficult, both in United States and in Canada, to readily secure the number of horses which the Canadian war market is offering for sale. The type suitable for heavy cavalry or heavy artillery.

In addition to the purchases for army account, commercial activity from two distinct quarters has exerted a very evident influence upon the Canadian horse market during the past three or four months. Since the beginning of the year, 6,000 horses have been shipped to the United States from Eastern Canada and 5,317 were shipped from the same yards westward, mostly to Saskatchewan. During the months of January, February and March, 1,305 horses were exported to the United States. A few hundred more are expected to be shipped in April. The horses exported were good farm chunks weighing from 1,300 to 1,500 lbs. at high as $500 a pair and were of a high quality and conformation. This new movement in the horse market is having its effect upon prices all over Canada.

Dreams Have Been Utilized

Some Inventions and Writings the Result of Visions While Sleeping

We are apt to regard a dream as waste material, which has no real reference or touch with life. But it is not always so, and the questions might be asked whether we make as much use of dreams as our ancestors in the earlier stages of the world. There have been several cases of very strange mathematical problems, which have baffled the mathematician while awake, solving themselves in a dream. One of the most famous cases is that of a Frenchman who reduced dreaming to so scientific and useful a point as Robert Louis Stevenson.

He was a wonderful dreamer, and could dream in sequence, continuing a dream from the point where he had broken off, like a serial story. It was in this way that the great part of "Jekyll and Hyde" was put together. Apparently, this man was a master of the art of dreaming, and he was in this way that the great part of "Jekyll and Hyde" was put together.

Ask any American what the finest literary hymn in the world is and he will say, with Colonel Roosevelt, that the "Battle Hymn of the Republic" is head and shoulders better than the best of it. "Hearts to a frazzle all the others."

Soon after the outbreak of the Civil War, Mrs. Ward Harte, who wrote the hymn, heard the soldiers singing "John Brown's Body." The tune sang in her mind, and she thought she would like to write new words to fit it, but they wouldn't come. She retired for the night, and the whole poem stood before her. Getting out of bed, and scarcely conscious of what she did, she wrote the poem, and she went back into bed and slept till morning.

But perhaps the case is taken in this sort of thing by the inventor of the sewing machine, Elias Howe was the man, and his difficulty was not the machine, but the needle. He might have given up altogether but for this dream. He thought he was in a strange land and was to be executed if he did not complete the machine and make it sew.

He was given twenty-four hours, and he spent it in agony of work, apparently. It was all useless, until he was actually being led to the place of death. On the way he noticed that the men who guarded him carried spears which were pierced near the head. Instantly the inventor saw the solution of his difficulty, and while he was begging for time he awoke. It was 6 o'clock in the morning. He leaped out of bed, rushed to his work shop, and before breakfast he had modeled the first sewing machine needle, with the eye at the point. From Answers, London.

Shortage of Horses in the Dominion

That Canada is experiencing a shortage of horses on account of the heavy drain of supplying thousands for military purposes, was the statement of John Bright, Dominion live stock commissioner, who attended the meeting of the National Live Stock Record Board in Toronto.

"There were not enough horses in Canada to work the land," he declared. "Something must be done to conserve our supply."

On account of farmers' credit with the banks being curtailed, there has been a falling off in the breeding of horses since 1914.

The Imperial Chamberlain, in his famous report in the Reichstag, said "there must be a new Belgium." Evidently the Belgians in East Africa are of the same thinking. They have captured 90 miles of German territory there, and named the first town that they took possession of, Liege.

Celebration of Anzac Day

Glowing Tribute Paid to Heroes by George Me L. Brown, European Manager of the C. P. R.

On April 24th the "Pall Mall Gazette" of London, England contained many views of the celebration of Anzac Day at Westminster Abbey, commemorating the landing of troops from Australia and New Zealand on the Gallipoli Peninsula, which occurred on April 25, 1915. Among them appeared the following glowing tribute paid by Mr. George Me L. Brown, European Manager of the C. P. R.

"The solemn beauty of Westminster Abbey, which echoes with the story of our past, is a fitting shrine in which to commemorate the noble 'Anzac' dead. Not alone because of the valor, the fortitude, and the sacrifice, but because of the reverses of the tide, previous to the Empire, but because they symbolize the high qualities which throughout centuries have gone to the building up of the British race. The courage and the chivalry of our forefathers lived again in those dauntless heroes of Gallipoli who have passed on undimmed the traditions of our history. And wherever those traditions make the British flag fly in the Kingdom, in their own homelands of Australia, New Zealand, and Tasmania, the heroes of Gallipoli are wherever the British flag flies there will be glorified those valiant men who strengthened the old, and forged new legends to be passed on together and make of us one people. As a Canadian, I speak with certainty when I say that in no part of the Empire is the service the Anzacs have rendered more universally recognized than in Canada. We feel that their splendid story is our pride and honor too, and that they have helped to bring home to us the truth that though the seas may roll between, we are all Mother country, and daughter nations, one Empire. Not each for each, but one for all—we live."

A Brave Act

Single Gunner Hurls Back Entire German Charge

An episode of the battle for Verdun, illustrating the cool bravery of the famous Colonial divisions of France, is told by a French army doctor, who witnessed the scene.

On a crest flanking the position of Douaumont, Lieut. S., belonging to an infantry regiment, was stationed with his battery of "75's." At six o'clock in the morning, during a blizzard, an Austrian 130 shell burst near the foremost gun. The captain who was regulating the range was badly wounded. A doctor who hastened towards the wounded officer was killed.

The Germans had got the range of the battery, and for half an hour they rained shells on it, working terrible havoc among the men, horses and guns.

The situation was already desperate when Lieut. S., pushing his best gun into a crater, continued to fire as coolly as at practice. "One by one the Germans were soon all killed. The officer now seated himself behind his gun, and acted as server."

At eight o'clock he had only four men left, at nine o'clock only two. Half an hour later he was alone.

The Germans decided to storm the position at the point of the bayonet. Lieut. S. watched them advance in serried ranks across the snow-covered ground until they were but 400 yards from him. Then, as calmly as ever, he started to work his "75" at top speed. His shells tore through the German masses, mowing down whole ranks and plunging long furrows in the charging masses. The Germans, unprepared for such a reception, were hurled back. The first man turned back and regained their lines in disorder, without suspecting that such terrible losses were the work of one man!

Lieut. S. took advantage of the respite to spike two of his guns, which were out of action, and harnessing the three remaining mules to a couple of cannon, still almost intact, brought them, together with the wounded captain and the body of the doctor, to the main positions of his division.

For his exploit the Lieutenant has been awarded the Legion of Honor and the War Cross.

Smashed German Supply Base. A Scotsman, writing of trench experiences, relates what he heard from the lips of an aviator:

"It was my good fortune to smash up a German supply base, said the aviator, when I pressed him. 'I had a risky time of it, falling over a spot, where I dropped the bomb, but I was so eager to drop to wreck the Boche depot I quite forgot some of my own dangers. The first moment came, and I let her go. I looked down to see what would happen. There was a small roar and a cloud of smoke and dust arose.'

"As it cleared away I saw the success of my lucky shot. I felt as if I was jumped up, and shouted and waved my hat, and hardly knew I was being hoisted up. It was a feeling of keenest enjoyment I have ever experienced."

The latest campaign on which the Militant Suffragists in Great Britain intend to embark is one for the redemption of the German territory over at the labor they have taken up at the call of Lloyd George.

Shakespeare's Popularity

If the test of popularity is the store set upon greatness by the number of books printed relating to a man, then the number of sets of Shakespeare's books placed upon the market—800,000—settles his pre-eminence in that respect as well as in many others. Allowing seven volumes to each set that would bring up the figure to 5,600,000.

This number is ten times that of the total number of books housed in the Bodleian Library and not far short of double the British Museum total, which is steadily increasing at the rate of 100,000 volumes each year.

The British Museum Library catalogue, by the way, contains nearly 5,000 entries relating to Shakespeare, and the collection of Shakespeare's books in his shelves exceeds 20,000 separate books.

"I think you are the man that stole my shirt," said Mike O'Hafferty one day when he met a very suspicious looking foreigner roaming about his house.

"Do you think I would stoop so low as to take your shirt?" said the stranger.

"You hadn't to stoop at all. It was hanging up."

No "Water Cure" For Germans

Rich Germans accustomed in peace times to leave their Fatherland to take the "water cure" in places outside Germany, have been "submarine blockade" of the British Isles in February, 1915, and her determination to torpedo every ship that left or approached British shores, whether neutral or belligerent.—Victoria Times.

Watered Margarine

Liquid margarine is the latest alternative to butter in Berlin, but even the German police cannot stand for such an adulteration, and a seller of the butter has been fined $250 for adulterating it with 60 per cent water. The price of beef in Berlin is now at 75 cents per lb.

Cheap "War Loans"

Austria is beginning to feel the pinch of the war. Such luxuries as beef are no longer in happy sight on the table of the Vienna workman's table. The government in raising its price of beef can hardly induce money by according subscriptions as low as 100 cents.

To Relieve Congestion
Two unusual measures have been under consideration by the Legislature of Massachusetts. One provides for an appropriation for households or small houses with plots of ground for mechanics, laborers and other persons in the suburbs of cities and towns. The other bill authorizes any city to acquire land for the purpose of teaching agriculture to its inhabitants, including school children, adults and family groups.

Useful in Camp.—Explorers, surveyors, prospectors and hunters will find Dr. Thompson's Electric Oil very useful in camp. When the feet and legs are wet and cold it is best to rub the feet freely with the Oil and the result will be the prevention of pains in the muscles, and should a cut, or contusion, or sprain be sustained, nothing could be better as a dressing or lotion.

No Girl Need Have a Blotched Face

Whether, it be in capturing the heart of man, or making her way through the world by the toll of her charms, a charming and pretty face gives any girl a big advantage. Poor complexion and blotchy skin are caused by blood disorders. The cure is simple. Just use Dr. Hamilton's Pills—a reliable family remedy that has for years been the foremost blood remedy in America. That soft glow will return to the cheeks, the eyes will brighten, appetite will improve, strength and endurance will come because sound health has been established. Get a 25c. box of Dr. Hamilton's Pills today. Sold every where.

The old lady from the country and her small son were driving to town when a huge automobile bore down upon them. The old lady was frightened and began to prance, whereupon the old lady leaped down and waved wildly and chauffer screaming at the top of her voice.

The chauffeur stopped the car and offered to help get the horse past. "That's all right," said the boy, who remained composedly in the carriage. "I can manage the horse. You just lead Mother past."

"There is this fact," said Jones, after a long argument on the question of man's superiority over woman, "at least there is one good, sweet and perfect thing given to man which a woman cannot have." "Never," cried his wife. "Never! I deny it! What do you mean?" "A wife!"

The Sphere of Woman

What the Women Workers After the War is Over

"What can be done must be done now. I fear and hope I am wrong in fearing great troubles to follow this enormous war, say Sir Rider Haggard.

"Its effect on the belligerent nations will be deep and revolutionary. In England the most startling thing with which we find ourselves face to face is female employment outside the home. Hundreds of thousands of women now because of the war have found their métier. From a multitude of homes they have emerged and now are doing their full share in the world's work and incidentally doing it exceedingly well, when their lack of previous experience is taken into consideration.

"Will they be content to lapse again into an aimless security with nothing in front of them save, perhaps, loveless marriage, or that combat with social conditions which is likely to end in their own ruin?"

"I think not.

"That means that they will do a share of the world's work, displacing men.

"And that means that a certain number of men—a large number, for it will include the multitude who will be displaced—will have to turn elsewhere than their old employment for their livelihood.

Again, it means that women will be the backbone of the world's work, up the burden of accomplishing their share toward the guidance of this age. It means that within fifty years they will be helping in the guidance of all nations.

I pray heaven that they may use their new found influence aright and think that will be the case, because while women work by instinct rather than by reason in eight times out of ten woman's instinct takes her to results more accurate than those to which our reason guides us.

"Another thing which must be remembered is the fact that in England the high wages which the war has brought to pass cannot be maintained in general after the war ends. The trades unions will not like to see them sink.

"This inevitably will mean trouble, and it may mean very great trouble. The only real refuge from this trouble will be found in the more primitive conditions that are in touch with nature. We cannot get safely away from Mother Nature—for long, at any rate.

Pills for Nervous Troubles.—The stomach is the center of the nervous system, and when the stomach suspends healthy action the result is manifest in disturbances of the system. It allowed to persist, nervous debility, a dangerous ailment, may ensue. The first consideration is to restore the stomach to proper action, and there is no readier remedy for this than Parmelee's Vegetable Pills. Thousands can attest the virtues of these pills in curing nervous disorders.

Horses for Military Service

Sixty Thousand Already Bought in Canada by Allied Governments

Advices from the War Office indicate that a very considerable number of horses for military purposes will be required from Canada this summer.

Buying on a somewhat extensive scale is to be resumed by the British Remount Commission, with headquarters in Montreal. About sixty thousand horses have been purchased in Canada for war purposes by the allied Governments since the outbreak of the war, while more than six hundred thousand have been purchased in the United States. Probably another twenty thousand will be purchased in Canada this year. This insures a steady market and continued good prices for horses suitable for artillery and transport work.

Lieut.-Col. Dr. Warnock, M. P., has been ordered to again report for duty in Montreal to help in the important work of securing and inspecting remounts.

Ask for Minard's and take no other.

Holland and the War

Sir Edward Russell, one of the best informed of British journalists, has this to say in a recent issue of The Liverpool Daily Post—"Some six years ago when the present writer was in Holland the Dutch upper classes talked of the war between England and Germany as being inevitable. If England was defeated one heard on all sides, then Holland's only resource against annexation by Germany would be the opening of sea dikes. That feeling has never changed during the present war, though Germany has lavished money galore on its small neighbors. It can be said with emphasis that never before has our Foreign Office been in such close relation to the Dutch Government. Before the close of the summer some interesting developments are quite possible in that land of sturdy men, hard thinkers and good lives."—Edmonton Journal.

Farm Lands Will Increase in Value

The pioneer stage of farming is about over. Another generation will see the last of the free land snatched up. The younger men among us will find land values increased during their life in proportion to the dearth of land and the increase of demand. Idle acres will slowly come into use. Wildcat speculation will gradually sober down. Time will bring about the adjustment of the type of farming to the soil and market conditions of the locality. We shall hear less of big money crops. We shall find more of solid farming values and real contentment.

He—I wonder why three-fourths of the typists in business offices are women? She—I think it is because men like to feel that there is at least one class of women whom they can dictate to.

"It's a dreadful night. Won't you stay and dine with us?"
"Really, thank you most awfully, but it's not quite so bad as all that."

The Spirit of Confidence

A Canadian officer formerly in a Canadian Government office, writes:

"I had a stroll over the ground at the back of our trench, and an awful sight met my eyes, but a sight, unfortunately, I have looked upon before—the sight of a battlefield after the battle. The Huns were practically blown out of their position; the trenches had been smashed so that one could hardly recognize them; there had been trenches; dug-outs were blown in, and there were signs that they held a good number of dead. The more I look at this position the Huns held the more I wonder how ever they were shifted, and I am more convinced that we can shift them from any position they hold."

LITTLE WORRIES

IN THE HOME

It is These That Bring Wrinkles And Make Women Look Prematurely Old

Almost every woman at the head of a home meets daily many little worries in her household affairs. They are too small to notice at the moment, but it is these same constant little worries that effect the blood and nerves and make women prematurely old. Their effect may be noticed in sick or nervous headaches, fickle appetite, pain in the back and aching joints, and the coming of wrinkles, which every woman dreads. To those thus afflicted Dr. Williams' Pink Pills offer a sure cure. They are a restoration of color to the cheeks, brightness to the eyes, a hearty appetite and a sense of freedom from weariness.

Among the thousands of Canadian women who have found new health through Dr. Williams' Pink Pills is Mrs. N. Worrall, Brimfield, Ont., who says: "After the birth of my second child I was so weak and run down that I was unable to do any thing. The doctor said I had scarcely any blood in my body. I could not walk half a block without being completely exhausted and all the treatment of the doctor did not seem to help me. I called in another doctor, but with no better results. My feet and legs became frightfully swollen, I suffered with severe pains in my back and sides and would all day drag myself around at my household work, and I was beginning to give up all hope of recovery. I had been urged to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, but like many others, thought they could not help me when doctors had failed to do so, but after much urging I decided to try them. To my surprise in a few weeks I found myself getting better. I then gladly continued their use and was soon completely recovered. I am stronger, and eventually able to do my house-work without fatigue. I strongly advise every weak woman to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills as a fair trial."

You can get these Pills through any medicine dealer or by mail at 5c a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Digging Post Holes

A farmer from Wyoming asks for information as to the most rapid and economical method of setting fence posts. An expert in farm mechanics answers:

Digging posts is not to be recommended unless only a temporary fence is desired or sharp metal posts are used. If the posts are of wood a large proportion will crack under the blows of the sledge.

The spade as an implement is usually not efficient, for only a shallow hole can be dug with it, and a post, to be set properly, must be set at least two and a half feet into the ground. With a regular post-hole digger the hole may be easily and quickly made to the depth desired.

There are three general types of diggers in common use: the plain flat auger, the cylinder-cased auger, and the split-tine spade, which can be opened and closed by moving the double handle. The second type can be used efficiently and rapidly under the greatest variety of conditions, and consequently is most widely used. The cost of digging the holes will depend upon the character and consistency of the soil, the depth to which the holes are to be dug, and the ability of the worker.

War Veterans and Politics

Canada is expecting confidently the return of peace veterans, and many will control the politics, as veterans controlled the politics of the United States for a generation following the civil war, and is rather rejoicing in the prospect. It is coming to be the conviction in the Dominion that those who offered their all for the nation in time of war will be most capable of safeguarding its interests in time of peace. The thought is a creditable one, to say the least, and we believe that the hope behind it will not be disappointed.—Christian Science Monitor.

Book Learning is Not All

It is a curious commentary on the quality of human understanding that so many writers should have laid so much emphasis upon the fact that Shakespeare's only education was secured within the walls of the Stratford grammar school. What a world of nonsense there is in the supposition that a knowledge of books means a knowledge of nature and mankind! How much more nonsense there is in the supposition that knowledge of nature and mankind cannot be secured except through the perusal of many books!—Outlook, New York.

A movement is on foot in Great Britain to do away with the golf links throughout the country till the war terminates. This is necessary, say the advocates, in order to economize horses and man. In some instances golf links are being planted with vegetables.

Old Gent—"Where were you born, my boy?" Boy—"In London, sir."

Old Gent—"What part?" Boy—"All the same, sir, 'cept my 'air and teeth. They was born in Birmingham and Leeds respectively."

The Boy on the Farm

The Farm Offers The Best Opportunities For Success

The farming business is now coming to a point where it is generally recognized as the most prosperous business, offering the best future and the brightest prospects. That being so, there will be no trouble about keeping the boy on the farm, for he will be keen to see that it is the best place to make money, gain the respect of his fellow-men and obtain that standing among which is the ambition of every right-minded boy. It is to gain these things that he has heretofore gone to the city; it is to gain these things that he will hereafter stay on the farm and that will send the youths of the city to join him. All he wants to know is as to what pays best in the sum of human happiness and comfort and success. It is now being demonstrated that in all these things the farm offers the best opportunities.

A "Tommy," lying in hospital, beside him a watch of curious and foreign design. The attending doctor was interested.

"Where did your watch come from?" he asked.

"A German gave it me," he answered.

"E ad to," was the laconic reply.—London Nation.

Germany's Next Harvest a Failure

The Daily Telegraph's Rotterdam correspondent says that according to reliable information he has received Germany's next harvest is bound to be a failure.

It is this hopeless prospect for the future," he says, "that has impelled the German Government to a desperate peace venture through the medium of negotiations with the United States.

"The failure of the harvest is due entirely to the blockade. German crops will be poor because the British navy has cut off from Germany all its overseas supplies, first, of cattle feeders, second, of artificial fertilizers. In all parts of the Empire farmers have reported that their land will not this year bear its full yield.

"With this fact now before it, the Government knows that even if starved off in the meantime famine next winter is inevitable."

Professor Alty and another world-famous mathematician are said to have spent the greater part of two days in toasting half-pennies with the view of ascertaining the relative probability of the success of "head" or "tail." They carefully noted the date produced, and subjected it to a mathematical analysis of abysmal profundity, finally arriving at the conclusion that it was "all a loss-up."

How the Blood Is Purified

By the Searching and Painstaking Work of Healthy Kidneys.

In its circulation through the body the blood not only carries nutrition to the cells and tissues, but also collects the waste material resulting from the breaking down of cells and tissues, the ashes left by the fire of life.

In due course the blood passes through the kidneys to be purified of these poisonous impurities, and these filtering organs extract each day about 50 ounces of liquids and 2 ounces of solids, 500 grains of urea and 10 grains of uric acid, the material which is found in rheumatic joints.

Sudden changes of temperature throw a great strain on the kidneys, but it is overeating and drinking that are the usual cause of trouble.

In a vain effort to remove the excess of waste matter the kidneys break down, uric acid and other poisons are left in the blood and the whole system is poisoned by impure blood.

Pains in the back and limbs, severe headaches, lumbago and rheumatism are the natural result. Hardening of the arteries, excessive blood pressure, weakening of the heart's action, Bright's disease may be anticipated unless prompt action is taken.

We like to think of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills as preventive treatment, for by their timely use you can readily prevent all these dreaded disorders. Unlike other medicines for kidney troubles, they awaken the action of liver and bowels as well as the kidneys, and thereby effect a prompt cleansing of the whole filtering and excretory systems.

There is no way by which the action of the kidneys can be so quickly aroused and the blood cleansed of impurities as by the use of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. It is therefore the greatest of blood purifiers and much sought for at this time of year, when everybody feels the need of a medicine to cleanse from the system the accumulation of poisonous matter.

ANOTHER OLD TIME INSTITUTION GONE

Wash day is another of the grand old Canadian institutions which is being badly dented by the relentless hoof of progress.

It was once a solemn and alarming institution—half way between a volcano and a famine. Clouds of steam rolled up from the basement into the stricken house. The rough grating sound of knuckles being worn off on the wash board kept the low, straining murmur of the mother, trying to reproach three children with her mouth full of clothes pins brought sadness to father as he sat at the dinner table eating a cold potato of yesterday's publication and sustaining life with the thought that tomorrow would be ironing day and that if he wanted any dinner on he could fry himself an egg.

Those were grand old times, but they are rapidly passing away. Wash day is now no more serious than an ordinary attack of measles in the family. Nowadays mother stuffs the washing machine full of dirty clothes on Monday morning, turns on the electric current, and telephones the power house to have the firemen keep up the current, as she wants to get through in time to go to the club in the afternoon.

Niagara Falls now washes most of the clothes in Ontario, and if it ever has a backache it doesn't mention the fact. It not only washes them, but it wrings them and irons them—and if it tears any of them in the process it turns the sewing machine until mother sews them up.

Henry Ford is one of the world's greatest washerwomen too. The number of laundresses who call for the clothogen in an automobile is growing each month by leaps and bounds. The modern hired girl does not ask "How many in the family, please?" she asks: "Have you a washing machine that will turn on with a switch?" And nowadays the young man who pulls a diamond ring from his pocket and asks a young lady to trudge with him through life is giving way to the future husband who pulls the ground plan of a downstairs laundry on his frail young sweatshirt, and asks her if she thinks she loves him enough to hang out the clothes if the local electric light trust or water company will do the rest.

One reason why woman is demanding the vote with more and more fury is because she isn't so extinct on Tuesdays as she used to be when wash day was a gymnasium with Turkish bath attachments.

Distribution of Prizes

The first annual prize distribution for the juniors of the Salvation Army took place on Monday last. A good crowd of people sat down to an excellent tea that had been prepared, after which a public meeting was held when a very interesting program was rendered by the juniors, including flag and hoop drills of a patriotic nature. The Salvation Army boys band rendered some selections very creditably.

There was also an after service for bringing in the contributions collected by the young people for Self Denial. There was very keen competition amongst the collectors to secure the prizes offered to the four highest collectors. The following competitors were successful:—Stephen Black $3.70, Nettie Graham $3.00, Alice Smith $2.75, Leslie Emmerson $1.95.

A very beautiful evening was brought to a conclusion by the presentation of the prizes to the juniors for regular attendance during 1915.

Advertising The Up-to-Date Farm

The Up-to-Date Farmer Makes His Place Attractive From the Road

Every business enterprise, be it farming or a commercial establishment, is becoming more and more dependent on extensive advertising for its success. The advertising campaign of the enterprising producer of California is spending thousands of dollars a year in a systematic advertising scheme, and why? Because it means more money to the individual producer.

People patronize the man or the concern who most effectively brings his business to the attention of the general public and keeps it there. This can be done in several ways, but chiefly by displaying characteristic features of the business which will attract the public eye, and advertising in the press. We all realize, for instance, how little advertising the plain common-place store has for us, but we are quite sure of ourselves, stop and admire the tastefully decorated and distinctive window in the next big store. Ninety-nine cases out of a hundred we go to the latter place when we wish to purchase an article. The city business houses recognize the value of putting an attractive advertising front to their goods, and turn each year on this one feature alone.

What this attractive advertising scheme will do for the farmers cooperative marketing association and the city business—it will do for the individual farmer, who, by being a fruit grower, stock raiser, dairyman, or seed grower. This is an age of competition, hence the farmer must be to sell his products successfully, must in some way attract the buyer to him.

Suppose two dairymen, both Ayrshire men, live side by side on farms of equal size; one has a nice road along the road in front of his home, an attractive and nicely swinging gate which gives entrance to the farm, a carefully kept driveway and lawn, trees and shrubbery sufficient for a background, and the house and outbuildings nicely painted and in good repair; the other has an old tumble-down fence along the road, the entrance to the farm is through a gate which is off its hinges, the house is not visible from the road, but only the clump of trees in which it is hidden. The buildings are in need of repair as well as paint, and the lane leading to them is narrow and rough. To which of these places would you go in search of a good bunch of Ayrshires?

The up-to-date farmer is the one who makes his place attractive from the road; this is the advertising medium which brings the business to the entrance. The entrance should receive first consideration and then the farm buildings. To have these hidden from view by trees is almost as undesirable as having them out in the open without any background whatever. The house and outbuildings will be twice as attractive and consequently more attractive and saleable, and he who has a beautiful place as an advertising medium if seen against background of forest trees or orchards rather than empty fields.

If the house is located unfavorably, some quickly growing trees of the better varieties should be planted between the trees native to the section are always hard to come. On the other hand, even if the house and buildings are well framed, if the approach to the business front is poor, all of the effective results of artistic planning is lost. If the road is so dusty and planted with trees and shrubbery that the farm house is visible only at a sudden, quick, close turn, the advantage of a long attractive arranged vista and surely cannot appear at its best. Set the house back upon the homestead as a business proposition, but nevertheless, the house and its surrounding acres will some day change hands and then the well cared for farm is the one which brings the high price.

As the merchandise is set to get in its window display, so should the farmer be laying out the grounds around his buildings. He must not the fence or avoid the planting to either with temporary plantings, but hardy, permanent shrubs and trees will give us good and even a better effect. Here rough walls or unsightly outbuildings can be effectively screened from view by climbing vines, which, at the same time, add much to the beauty of the surroundings.

First impressions sink deepest. Often by the simple adjustment of the drive, the proper effect of bringing the house closer or placing it farther from the road can be accomplished. If the home is surrounded by trees of the most desirable kind, thinking them down to one or two at either end of the buildings will set the place well against the sky line. Where the thoughtfulness of planting was lacking in our ancestors, now the acceptance of time to place a maple or an elm where it will increase in value with each succeeding year until it has added hundreds of dollars to the worth of the property. On the other hand, if our forefathers have planted a pine or a spruce in front of the house, it is darkened and dampened and fairly smothered with its gloom as it is to plant.

The farmer, who continually advertises by keeping his farm attractive, has a considerable advantage in the market to live, and, at the same time, gets higher prices for his seed, stock, and produce. His neighbors, who think he is lucky because they naturally stop at his place, however, are not so lucky. His accident, that is the secret of his advertising, or in other words, his window display which commands attention.

Holland as a War Factor

Has Only a Small Army, but Men Are Well Trained

Apart from aiding the allies by giving opportunities to them to attack Germany on an open flank, Holland probably has done little to help the allies in the war. The Dutch army is small, but the Dutch navy is one of the best in the world. The Dutch navy is one of the best in the world. The Dutch navy is one of the best in the world.

The Dutch navy consists of 16 battleships, 10 cruisers, 40 torpedo boats, 10 submarines and a number of gunboats for coast defence. In addition to these there are at least 100000 reservists. Four more were built in Germany when war broke out, but these were taken over by the Germans. The Dutch government immediately laid down replacement boats in Holland, and doubtless some of these have been completed.

Holland is bordered on the south by Belgium and on the east by Germany. On the former side the country is quite level, on the latter more hilly; the land frontier is open all round. The frontiers are defended by fortresses. On these sides are lines of more or less permanent works, which can be rendered very difficult of attack by innovations. There are also strong works on the coast. Amsterdam itself is well fortified, the possibility of invasions from the preceding successful attack. The coast defenses are in good order.

The number of vessels belonging to the Dutch mercantile marine at the end of 1912 latest figures available were: Sailing vessels, 400; of which English tonnage, 287 of 417,436 tons; Entered, 18,198,000; cleared, 18,031,000. Many Dutch vessels are engaged in carrying trade between foreign ports.

Pat Murphy, a contractor, became rich and prosperous, and bought an expensive automobile. So Mrs. Murphy invited Mrs. O'Hara for a ride in it.

"Whatever you do, Mrs. O'Hara, don't talk to the chauffeur; not a single word to him; for I'll take his mind off what he's doing."

"They started out at a rapid clip. The chauffeur zipped around the corner and then stopped another; at times the car would be on two wheels. Finally Mrs. O'Hara shouted the chauffeur on the back and said, apologetically:

"Mr. Chauffeur, I beg your pardon. I was told not to speak to you at all, but Mrs. Murphy isn't in the car for the last ten minutes."

The Dutch people occupy a country which contains 12,650 square miles—little more than one-tenth of the size of Great Britain and Ireland, the population being just over 6,000,000. Holland is not only flat, it is hollow. Hence it is called "the lowland." Along the canals the meadows are 10 feet or 12 feet, sometimes more, beneath the waterline. By the sea at such tide, there may be a difference in the level of the soil and of the ocean of quite twenty-five feet or more.

Of all the new explosives the most terrific is land mine or of fire. It has to be made in alcohol. When allowed to dry it appears as a brown powder, and so unstable that a puff of air will set it off. The experiment has been tried of leaving a few minutes upon a table with a few grains of sugar. The first blue bottle that flew on the table and began to crawl among the grains caused an explosion.

A Crime Against Civilization

The time is coming when neutrals will use a good deal of the demand that torpedoes of ships be stopped. It is a crime against civilization, not only in the humanity of it, but in the destruction of the agencies of commerce upon which the world must rely for commercial interchange. It is a crime, from every point of view, save the ruthless subordination of everything in war to the demands of success. St. Louis Star.

Testing Dairy Products

Valuable Bulletin Issued by the Department of Agriculture

The price of success is attention to detail. This fact is distinctly emphasized in a bulletin recently issued by the dairy and cold storage branch of the federal department of agriculture, under the title of "The Testing of Milk, Cream and Dairy Products by Means of the Babcock Test," and written by J. E. Singleton, chief inspector of dairy products.

Without being profuse, Mr. Singleton tells in plain language about all that is to be of the practical application of the test, the care that should be taken of the component parts of the apparatus, the measurement of the apparatus, and the method that should be employed. The qualities naturally most emphasized are exactness, cleanliness and temperature.

The dairy commissioner in his introductory says there is nothing fundamentally new in the bulletin, but that the contents are presented with such a clearness of diction and the procedure is so clearly set forth that the result is a reliable handbook for those who value information on the testing of milk, cream and so on. A number of exact and plain illustrations lend additional worth to a notable bulletin, the number of which is 45 of the dairy and cold storage series and that can be had by post free application to the dairy products branch, department of agriculture, Ottawa.

No Cause to Complain

The work of the navy is great, but it is nevertheless the compelling fact of the war. It is upon that work that the whole strategy of the allies is based, and we can conceive of no greater injustice to the navy and no more serious disservice to our cause than to suggest that in establishing our command of all the seas of the world our sailors are unemployed. If Germany concedes the seas without a challenge, of what have we to complain?—London Daily News.

A Sunday school teacher had been telling her class of little boys about golden crowns of glory and heavenly rewards for good people.

"Now," she said, "I am going to tell you the story of the boy who was given the greatest crown."

Then a bright little chap piped up: "His mother's got the biggest head."

"Mike," said Pat, "how do you tell the age of a fowl?"

"Oh, can always tell by the teeth," said back Mike.

"By the teeth?" exclaimed Pat. "But a fowl isn't got no teeth!"

"No," admitted Mike, "but I have."

"Aye! I'd like awfully to know whether she will marry me or not."

"Reggie! Why don't you ask her, d'ye see?"

"Aye! I've loved that girl a good while."

"What a head you have, old man!"

TO FRANCE

(This striking poem is by a gifted Canadian, at present on the Canadian Pacific Railway's publicity staff at Calgary, Alberta. He is the author of several volumes of fiction and verse).

We little know thee, France; we thought—
And God forgive us, France; that our thought was sin—
We thought thee fair without, and false within,
And we did not seek to know thee as we ought.

We knew the face thou furnished toward us;
The painted face, the sensuous desire;
We held thy virtue subtle as thy sin;
As cheap and subtle; neighbor, we have erred.

For thou hadst poured thy life in every mould;
And we had found the mould of desire;
We warmed our marrow at thy Latin fire,
And found it hot, for we were Saxon-blood.

Forgive us, France; we passed the lie along;
"A thoughtless people, frivolous and gay."
And now we know thee; we can only say
Forgive us, France; we sinned; we did thee wrong.

How well thy sons have risen to thy need;
No art can picture on the printed page;
But surely Time shall reckon, age to age,
The deeds of France, for France is great indeed.

And that black lust that would thy virtue rape
And set a ransom on thy bruised head,
Its spawnings rot among the countess dead,
And all its land is wrapped in tears and crepe.

And you have suffered, you who shall count the toll?
Thy cup of grief shall silently endure,
But thy great spirit, riseth white and pure,
For France is still a nation and a soul!

—Robert J. C. Stead.

The Value of Cold Storage

A Comprehensive Booklet Issued Dealing With This Subject

Cold storage promises as the years pass to have a greater and greater effect on the cost of living. Not only stockholders and hotelkeepers, but ordinary householders in increasing numbers are coming to recognize that the buying of food in quantities and preserving in cold storage means a satisfactory dividend on investment. Hence the general interest possessed by Bulletin 147 under the title of "The Cold Storage of Food Products," and written by J. A. Rudick, dairy and cold storage commissioner for the Dominion, and J. Burgess, cold storage inspector. Every person who makes use of a kitchen refrigerator, or places milk, butter, meat, fruit or vegetables in a cool cellar, puts into practice the principle upon which the operation of the most up-to-date cold storage warehouse and follows in some particular the methods described in this comprehensive and informative publication. An example of the benefits derived from the system is furnished in the suggestion that if it were not for the cold storage facilities which are now available the price of eggs would, for lack of an immediate market, go so low during the laying period of the spring and early summer months that the price of the egg would be so low that the farmer would be discouraged, while the scarcity that would result during the season of non-supply would boost prices for all kinds of eggs to such an extent as to make them prohibitive for the majority of the people. Eggs are but one of the articles of food the price of which is regulated, and to some extent standardized, by cold storage. Dairy products, meat, fish and fruit can all be so kept and preserved if the treatment set out in this bulletin, which can be had for the mere effort of application to the publications branch, department of agriculture, Ottawa, is followed. It outlines all the methods and processes that are pursued in the handling, storing, shipping and preservation of such perishable articles as apples, butter, cheese, vegetables, eggs, fish, game, lard, meat, milk and poultry. The necessary temperatures being given in each instance and also in the care of furs and woolens.

General Wolfe No German

Dr. William Mackay of Inverness, Scotland, in lecturing before the Historical Association of Scotland recently remarked that at Calhoun the future General Wolfe was ordered by the Duke of Cumberland to shoot a wounded Highlander.

Wolfe, who was an Englishman, and not like Cumberland, a German, replied, "My commission is at the disposal of your highness, but I am not to commit murder."

Many years after, just before the taking of Quebec, Wolfe issued general orders that showed the difference between the Englishman and the German: "No churches, houses, or buildings of any sort are to be burned or destroyed without orders. The contents that remain in their habitations, their women and children, are to be treated with humanity. If any violence is offered to a woman, the offender shall be punished with death." The lecturer expressed the wish that some of the relatives of the Duke of Cumberland, who were in the Kaiser's army had known of those orders, and carried them out.

"There is much truth in the saying of the cynic, that the economical wife is a woman who never allows a crumb to fall from her husband's table without carefully picking it up and putting it in her husband's bed," says a writer in an English paper.

LOCAL AND GENERAL

The annual picnic of the Presbyterian Sunday school will be held in some convenient and suitable place near town on Wednesday afternoon next, July 5th. All parents, as well as the children, are invited to attend and bring a basket with them. Those planning to be present should be at the club room of the church not later than two o'clock in the afternoon.

B. P. McEwen has received a small stock of war souvenirs in the shape of pencils made from empty cartridge shells picked up on the battle fields of Flanders. The contrivance complete is the exact size of a steel-nosed bullet and makes a very convenient pocket pencil. And one derives a wholesome satisfaction in the thought that the real bullet which formerly reposed in the shell found a billet in some big fat Hun, and thereby added its quota to the glory which has gathered around the Canadian armies in Flanders. The price has been fixed at 25c each—just enough to 'pay the cost of manufacture. Better get one while they last.

Swamped with advertising! Such in the enviable condition of The Bulletin this week. The same might have been said of last week also. The proof of the pudding is in the eating and the fact that our advertising columns are crowded to capacity speaks most eloquently of the value of this paper as an advertising medium. Of course as our advertising columns have filled up, our news space has been curtailed, but we assure our readers that not a line of that space will be used for mudslinging, knocking our competitors, or working off a private grudge of any kind, but that we will do the best we can under the circumstances to give a reasonable and truthful record of current events in all parts of the district. If you 'know any news items, send them in.' We will be very glad to receive them.

LOCAL AND GENERAL

The recent cool weather has caused the streams hereabouts to subside considerably.

John Johnson, secretary of the International local, was in Calgary the early part of the week.

A special train carrying Vice President Bury and staff went west over the Crow line on Tuesday afternoon.

Ed. Escott is providing refreshments for the dance in the opera house on Friday evening. This dance is in aid of the Red Cross Funds. Stokos' Orchestra will furnish music.

The Royal Gwent Welsh Choir, which appeared in Coleman a few weeks ago, will be here again on November 30th under the auspices of the Knights of Pythias.

Every business man and citizen should see to it that their premises are decorated with at least one flag on Dominion Day. And if you can get a Red Cross flag, run that up also.

W. L. Ouimette has had to put a new sidewalk down in front of his store—the crowds which thronged the premises to take advantage of his Money Back plan wore the old one out.

Scott Campbell and Miss Bertha VanDuren, both of Coleman, were married in Blairmore on Tuesday. They left the same evening for a short honeymoon to Calgary, Banff and other points of interest.

George Clair was the host at a stag dinner at the City Dining Hall on Wednesday evening.

Mayor Morrison acted as director of ceremonies, H. G. Good eve discharged the duties of chaplain, while "Billy" Davidson had charge of the musical end of the function. They must have had a whale of a time for none of the bunch turned up before dinner next day.

It pays to advertise. C. J. Stevens lost a horse—and within twenty-four hours after the loss had been mentioned in The Bulletin the animal was located at Cowley. Last week a gold pin was lost by a local resident, and a few hours after The Bulletin was on the street, in which a "Lost" advt. appeared, the pin was found on the golf links. Again, Cecil Gower reports new customers from points as far distant as Bellevue since The Bulletin began to circulate in the outlying districts. Make your wants known through the columns of The Bulletin—the only newspaper covering the whole Pass district.
